7:00 P.M.

AHMED EL KHOLY

GENERAL COORDINATOR AND CO-FOUNDER OF EGYPTIANS ABROAD IN JAPAN

NAGWA KHALIL

ASSISTANT COORDINATOR OF EGYPTIANS
ABROAD; LAKELAND COLLEGE JAPAN PROFESSOR

The Egyptian Revolution of January 25, 2011 was hailed by the world as one of the most remarkable in recent history. However, today after more than one year, the revolution seems to be going nowhere. The military generals are in full charge. Nagwa Khalil, an Egyptian, will present an overview of the military takeover of the revolution during the past year, the subsequent exclusion of the young revolutionaries, and the confusion that reigns in Egypt today. Ahmed El Kholy, who participated in the demonstrations at Tahrir Square that continued long after the ousting of President Hosny Mubarak, will present an eyewitness account of the hopes and fears of the demonstrators in Tahrir Square.

Mr. Kholy is currently managing director of a financial management company in Japan, and Ms. Khalil is an adjunct professor at Lakeland College, a long-term resident of Japan and activist in Egyptian affairs.
